

TRADITIONAL COUNTRY WITH A SOUTHERN TWIST

Randy Woody and the Southbound Band are driven by their passion for real country music, and their unyielding desire to create and entertain. It is that intensity that is captured every time they step on stage.

They are a progressive team of musicians from Monroe county, in rural Southeastern Tennessee, striving to continue the true spirit of classic country music with Southern style.

Randy Woody and the Southbound Band have gained a solid reputation as Tennessee's premier country music, dance, party and show band. With originals that have been described as "Songs with substance" and "an intoxicating heartbreak", if you look at the band's experience it's no surprise. The members of Randy Woody and the Southbound Band are no strangers to the performing world, with the first performance in 2006. The chemistry that has evolved from these guys coming together is amazing.
